Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the pre-biasing devices which are not springs, and the different sensors must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 2,910,24and 47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 2, if the sleeve is part of the apparatus it is unclear how it can surround the apparatus. It must be claimed as surrounding some other claimed component of the apparatus.

In claims 9 and 10, there is a double inclusion of the first end.

In claim 24, there is a double recitation of the thermal delivery devices.

In claim 47, there is no antecedent basis for "said outer sheath".

Response to Amendment

The amendment filed 09-05-2007 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: new figures 14b and c, specifically the structure indicated as elements 231,234,236-238.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 5-13,17,18 and 20-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Knodel, et al.-6447524.

Knodel discloses an apparatus including a central member 106-109 and legs 110,111. All of the elements are made out of shape memory alloys. They can curl on their own or can be curled by a pressure-applying member. An outer tube or catheter can be withdrawn relative to the apparatus thus allowing the straight leg to curl up and form an enlarged portion which restricts motion of the apparatus. Elements 107 and 108 can be tethers as well as distal legs if need be.

Claims 5-13,15-29 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Frazier, et al.-6746472.

Frazier discloses an apparatus similar to that of Knodel as shown in fig. 15, but can also be tubular. Again the device is made out of shape memory alloy. The central portion being a tube could act as a stent. The cut-out sections form a "mesh".

Both of the devices of Knodel and Frazier are used to attach tissue or mesh to other tissue. Frazier in particular discloses the use of the fastener to attach two luminal tissues (grafts or vessels) together.

Claims 5-13,15-18,20--29 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Evard, et al.-6616675.

Evard discloses an apparatus having a tubular central member 38 and curable straight legs 20 attached to both ends of the central tube to restrict motion of the tube in either direction once used to attach two luminal tissue (vessels) together. The device is made out of shape memory mesh material.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1,3,4,30-40,42-46,48 and 49 are allowed.

Claim 14 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 2 and 47 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the rejected claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
